

Everything follows the kombucha.

One self-hosted app that runs a kombucha brewery end to end, from the tea kettle to the tax office, with water kefir and vinegar on the same licence. This is the full map of what BrauMo covers and how it hangs together.

Offline-first: your data stays yours

THE VALUE CHAIN

The spine of the product. Every feature sits on one of these stages, and each stage feeds the next automatically.

THE FOUNDATION

Why breweries trust it with their data.

Offline-first

Runs on your own computer, data in one file. No cloud dependency: it works in the cellar.

Safe upgrades

Updates migrate your database in place. Never rebuilt, never lost.

Backups that check themselves

Daily snapshots with retention and an off-site mirror, and the dashboard warns you if a backup goes stale.

Four languages

Every screen in English, German, Spanish and Portuguese. German business documents are native, not translated.

Speaks accountant

DATEV booking batches, XRechnung e-invoices, GoBD-conform cancellations.

Tested like infrastructure

8000+ automated tests run on every change before it ever reaches you.

Three ferment lines

Kombucha, water kefir and vinegar on one licence, each with its own measurements and control points.

On the brewery floor

A free iPhone and iPad app finds your server on the WiFi and brings every screen to the tank, barcode scanner included.

THE SIX SYSTEMS

Everything around the spine: each one a full module, not a checkbox.
