

SumUp: Empowering businesses to thrive by simplifying and automating payment processes

Founded by a small team of visionaries in 2012, SumUp empowers business owners to thrive by providing affordable, accessible, and user-friendly payment solutions and financial tools. Today, more than four million businesses rely on SumUp's products and services—from card readers and point-of-sale systems to online stores, invoicing solutions, and business accounts.

While SumUp was experiencing rapid growth, manual processes, inconsistent reporting, and disparate systems were slowing it down. By streamlining and automating document and reporting compliance, SumUp could create one source of truth and accelerate payments—eliminating delays, improving compliance, and gaining clear financial insights to support ongoing growth and innovation.

Speeding up invoice processing and payments with SAP Document and Reporting Compliance

Before: Challenges and opportunities

- Manual upload of invoice data into third-party e-invoicing solutions, creating a complex process that slowed operations and required numerous resources
- Incohesive reporting that caused silos of accounting records and e-invoices, requiring manual analysis of massive volumes of data and leading to unclear financial insights
- Disparate third-party systems that caused significant delays in reporting invoices to tax authorities, impacting compliance and leading to inefficiencies in document control and team coordination

Why SAP

- SAP Document and Reporting Compliance solution to centralize and automate data collection and processing, supported by continuous localization updates and a consistent innovation road map
- Preconfigured integration packages and self-service capabilities to simplify deployment
- Integration capabilities to unify processes and data in SAP S/4HANA and SAP Document and Reporting Compliance

After: Value-driven results

- Faster invoice processing time and increased control by establishing a single source of truth and automating document issuance
- Consistent user experience by enabling the ERP team to maintain uniform localized processes worldwide and expand implementation to additional countries—all with in-house knowledge
- Improved compliance and resource utilization by streamlining inbound processes, such as pulling invoices from tax authorities

“The deployment of SAP Document and Reporting Compliance across various international countries enables the robust automation of electronic document issuance, enhancing our operational efficiencies and underscoring our dedication to innovation.”
