Achieve transparency with a fully integrated system for legal and claims management

Claims and their associated legal matters generate a significant volume of data to be tracked, and this information is often siloed in different systems. With a fully integrated solution, you can establish a transparent approach to legal management and make definitive links between legal matters and claims.

- » Ensure security by setting access permissions in one central place
- » Streamline system administration with a single administrator
- » Easily set up new legal matters and instantly link them to claims
- » Gain real-time access to legal and claim information
- » Manage diaries, notes, correspondence and legal documentation in a single solution
- » Track legal events, settlements, attorneys and legal parties

Realize significant cost savings and allocate budgets accurately

An integrated solution for claims and legal matters provides significant benefits for managing financials.

- » Reduce costs with improved access to information for budgets and invoices
- » Improve reserve setting and payment processing when all financials associated with a legal matter are in the claim record
- » Streamline invoice management and ensure compliance with budgeting
- » Integrate with third-party legal bill review services
- » Better manage legal spend by tracking payment amounts and negotiated fees
- » Prepare comprehensive reviews and reports of legal spend

Improve transparency and communication with outside counsel

Most organizations with in-house legal teams still frequently work with outside counsel. In-house attorneys need to track and manage cases and the documents associated with them to make informed legal decisions.

With all of this information easily accessible in a central system, you can:

- » Achieve greater operational transparency
- » Improve collaboration with outside counsel
- » Easily share notes, correspondence and other documentation
- » Be more responsive to your clients
- » Act promptly and prioritize your time and resources
