

CRM FOR MEDIA & PUBLISHING

The Media & Publishing industry is in a state of transformation, with new players continuously entering the market, leaving consumers spoilt for choice.

The keys to driving subscriptions, content engagement, advertising revenues and ultimately sales in this industry is changing, and to compete and stay relevant, organisations must evolve and leverage the right technology.

Audience INSIGHT

Media & Publishing businesses must focus on putting the audience first.

Imagine having a single 360-degree view of your audience and knowing who the key segments are, what they want, when and how they want it.

With such insight, you can develop a true data-driven strategy for your business for both your subscribers and your advertisers. You can easily monetise your products and services and expand your revenue stream.

You can understand which target segments are most likely to convert, what content is most likely to resonate, and you can better drive advertising sales on your properties - you can prove and demonstrate why your advertising space is ideal for brands to spend their advertising budget.

Workbooks CRM can help you manage your audience effectively and provide insight to help you reach the right audience and to increase viewership or subscriptions, downloads, conference ticket sales, and more. CRM can help you increase your ad revenue and drive better customer service.

Overall, Workbooks was the only solution we found that would allow us to customise the platform in a cost effective way so it aligned to the specifics of our business.

MANAGE

Relationships

As a Media & Publishing business, your eco-system is complex.

It includes your subscribers on one side, and on the other the advertising brands (the end-client), the advertising agencies and the media buyers. In order to complete an advert sale, you'll be dealing with different individuals within those organisations, from commercial (for media buying) to marketing teams and designers for the production and tracking of the ad itself, to order processing and finance, etc.

Keeping track of the relationships between each of those and how they are connected can be a real challenge. How do you track interdependence? How do you record the connection of people to organisations, advertising projects and sales orders? How do you know who to engage with in relation to what aspect of the process?

Workbooks CRM can easily support such complexity and provide you with the right accurate information at your fingertips – ensuring the best experience possible. Workbooks CRM can help you track and manage efficiently relationships between clients, agencies & their media buyers and correlate this to your audience data too – all within the same tool.
