Why people choose Financial Edge NXT over QuickBooks:

“NXT is created for the specific unique needs of the nonprofit industry. Quickbooks is usable but doesn't have the functionality and reliability of NXT. It has been many years since I used Quickbooks, so maybe it has improved, but I don't know of another accounting program that is created especially for the nonprofit industry.”

Why people choose Financial Edge NXT over MIP Fund Accounting:

“Blackbaud Financial Edge NXT is much easier to learn and understand in reports than MIP, easier to separate for reporting than Quickbooks, and you can copy JE entries to make monthly entries easier, and just update the costs in the new JE. No other product functions this way. For Tracking, only Blackbaud Financial Edge NXT allows you to reverse a wrong entry, which also makes it easier to correct mistakes. I truly like using Blackbaud Financial Edge NXT very much.”

Why people choose Financial Edge NXT over Sage:

“I personally had more experience with QuickBooks and Sage, but I sort of stumbled upon FE NXT because of my current job. It is a lot more user friendly and allows you to not necessarily have such a strong background in accounting or bookkeeping. However, if you do mess up with one of the modules, it gives you the liberty to adjust any accounts that way which is very nice.”

Why people choose Financial Edge NXT over everything else:

“FENXT was our first choice when we switched from QB Desktop. QB no longer met our needs because its ability to accommodate fund accounting is very limited, as is its budgeting module. We use QBO for a subsidiary, but it has the same top-level limitations. We evaluated Sage, Aplos, and a couple of other integrated solutions, but found FENXT was the best-integrated solution for us because of its flexibility and ability to customize, plus we spoke to other users who raved about the training and support from Blackbaud, the parent company.”
