

Choose full-service feed management from the pros

If you're a retailer, manufacturer, or agency, you know that ecommerce is evolving.

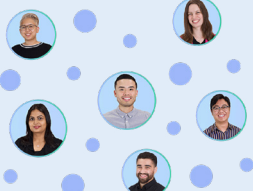

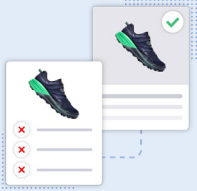

There are more shopping destinations than ever to advertise and sell products on, but expanding into new channels is challenging without the right technology and support in place.

Every channel has specific product listing requirements, and if you don't maintain the quality of your data on each one, your performance suffers, listings get removed, and your account can be suspended.

Businesses need a combination of the right expertise, the right technology, and the right safety measures to scale effectively.

Feedonomics offers full-service solutions for marketplaces and advertising channels that include dedicated support from a team of feed managers, channel experts, and integration specialists. Working with us is like adding a whole product feed department to your business.

 Feed setup and ongoing, 24/7 support from teams located around the world	 Product listing and catalog optimization according to each channel's best practices	 A multichannel feed platform with AI-powered features and automated order management technology	 Data protection and error monitoring systems to keep your business running smoothly
---	--	---	--

Choose full-service feed management from the pros, or risk falling behind the competition

SAMSUNG

FASHIONNOVA

allbirds

SONOS

To learn more, contact us at hello@feedonomics.com or visit feedonomics.com.