

JReport lets you design, embed, and scale sophisticated operational reports. Get precise layout control and easy distribution to thousands of users.

JReport is the fast, robust, and flexible solution that empowers software companies and organizations to create and embed advanced operational reports and analytics into their applications.

Embedded Operational Reporting

JReport enables you to embed operational reports and analytics within your applications. You can integrate JReport as a natural extension of your existing applications delivering pixel-perfect reporting with interactive visualization elements for deeper analysis into the data.

Your applications will be able to take advantage of JReport's intuitive, customizable interfaces for accessing and interacting with business-critical information.

Your Look and Feel

JReport supports developers in their quest to deliver white-labeled operational reports and analytics. From colors and graphics to entire styling themes and beyond, JReport is designed for seamless integration into your applications so you can stay focused on growing your product's brand identity.

For companies seeking an even more custom-tailored analytics experience, developers can implement custom menu options and control workflow via APIs.

Pixel-Perfect Formatting

Highly precise, formatted reports require pixel-level accuracy. Give developers control over the properties of every report object (including tables, charts, lines, fonts, shading), so they can precisely place and control each object.

With pixel-perfect formatting, JReport can provide highly specific form grids or other special layout elements to your invoices, documents, and forms that need to be exported to PDF, printed, and/or archived for regulatory compliance.

Banded Layouts

JReport features a wide, sophisticated set of capabilities for building any report layout imaginable. Sections in an operational report, called "bands", provide structure for aggregated and detailed data. Bands can be made to repeat within a page or across pages and be nested for even greater flexibility.

With bands, you can command exact positioning of headers, footers, aggregations, detailed data, images, sub-reports (literally a report inside a report), and more. Quickly lay out banded objects using the report template designer, giving you design control of the report structure without any of the potentially cumbersome report data in it.

Smart pagination breaks content across pages, such as between a chart and table, or between table groups. Now you can precisely tune paginated reports when exporting to PDF, Excel, or print.

Sophisticated Data Engine

JReport harnesses a powerful data engine to present aggregation and detailed information at multiple levels. Enable data exploration and interactivity such as drill-down, drill-up, and drill-through on detailed data, slice-and-dice, pivot, sort, and filter, among others. Process conditional logic that controls report format and layout. Customize the behavior of the report interactivity based on the specific needs of your business users.

Scalable Distribution for Any Workload

JReport is built as a high-performance solution for large-scale, dynamic report distribution. Deliver operational reports by JReport's SaaS-grade multi-tenant security and scalability with clustering, bursting and scheduling. You can be confident in the distribution of critical information to many thousands of users in formats such as HTML, PDF, Excel over email and print. JReport scales your new and existing enterprise initiatives that call for high-capacity, sophisticated reporting.
